

Name: _____

Date: _____

CER Paragraph Structure Reference Sheet

Claim 1	❖ _____ causes _____ ❖ _____ is the reason for _____ ❖ _____ and _____
Evidence 1 ● Use quantitative (numerical) data ● What does the slope tell us?	❖ From the _____ lab/experiment, evidence to support the claim is _____ ❖ One piece of evidence to support this claim is _____ from the _____ lab/experiment. ❖ In the data ❖ This claim is evidenced by ❖ According to the data collected during the investigation ❖ According to the observations collected during the investigation
Reasoning 1 (How does your evidence support your claim?)	❖ This is important because _____. ❖ This evidence shows that _____. ❖ This evidence suggests that _____. ❖ This evidence confirms that _____. ❖ Based on the evidence, it can be concluded that because ❖ The most logical conclusion that can be drawn from this evidence is that because ❖ These facts work together to build a case thatbecause.....

Claim 2	❖ _____ causes _____ ❖ _____ is the reason for _____ ❖ _____ and _____
Evidence 2 • Use quantitative (numerical) data • What does the slope tell us?	❖ Another piece of evidence from the _____ lab/experiment is _____. ❖ Additionally, _____ ❖ In the data ❖ This claim is evidenced by ❖ According to the data collected during the investigation ❖ According to the observations collected during the investigation
Reasoning 2 (How does your evidence support your claim?)	❖ This is important because _____. ❖ This evidence shows that _____. ❖ This evidence suggests that _____. ❖ This evidence confirms that _____. ❖ Based on the evidence, it can be concluded that because ❖ The most logical conclusion that can be drawn from this evidence is that because ❖ These facts work together to build a case thatbecause.....